Strikers Hail End to Ultimatum

Few Heed CBC, Return to Work

MONTREAL (UPI) — A Canadian Broadcasting Corporation official reported Monday that only 100 of its 1,200-odd striking employees observed last week's back-to-work ultimatum and returned to their jobs this morning.

Jean Jules Trudeau, press and information officer for the corporation, said a total of 1,484 employees, about 100 more than usual, had turned up for work.

Meanwhile, earlier Monday, the striking producers and their supporters staged another vociferous but otherwise peaceful demonstration outside the Radio Canada Building to celebrate CBC management's weekend decision in Ottawa to "indefinitely defer" the network's instruction to its employees last Thursday to return to work Monday or be dismissed.

The deferment, announced in the capital Sunday night by corporation vice-President E. L. Bushnell, was described as a move to give union leaders time to consider their positions.

'He Was Nicest Guy in Birdland'

Cool-Blooded Killer

NEW YORK (UPI) — The assistant manager of Birdland, one of the nation's top jazz nightclubs, was stabbed to death early Monday near a spotlighted stage where the band was playing a cool arrangement of "I'm Through with Love."

Police were seeking a sandy-haired man, described as a "hopped-up jazz enthusiast," as a suspect in the slaying.

Some 100 jazz buffs, including bandleader Woody Herman, were in the dimly-lit basement nightspot on Broadway when Zachariah (Irving) Levy, 36, fought and lost a battle with an unknown assailant.

Police said Levy, father of four and brother of one of Birdland's co-owners, was killed by a single knife thrust that penetrated near his heart.

A police alarm was issued for a heavy-set man in his early forties. Also sought was his companion, a stocky woman, about 30.

Alto saxman Hal McKuzick was playing a solo with the 15-piece Urbie Green band when sounds of a fight became audible over the music.

"We could hear shouting and scuffling but the bandstand lights were in our eyes and we couldn't see what was happening out there," he said later. "As the scuffle continued, we went into our finale 'Cherokee,' a real wild arrangement."

Midway in the number, glasses crashed to the floor, a woman screamed, and a man shouted: "There's been a murder."

"We finished the number, left the stand and learned Irving was dead," said McKuzick. "He was the nicest guy in Birdland."

Beck's Wife Collected His Pay

TACOMA (AP)—Mrs. Dave Beck got the first crack at her husband's pay cheques, an accountant testified yesterday in the tax trial of the $50,000-a-year former Teamsters' Union president.

Ludwig Lobe, accountant on the staff defending Beck on charges of evading $240,000 of income taxes, said Beck's pay cheques were deposited in Mrs. Beck's account.

"Then, Mrs. Beck took out what she needed for living expenses and gave the rest back to Mr. Beck?" asked William Dwyer, a defence attorney.

"True," Lobe responded.

"And Mr. Beck was free to do as he liked with what was left?" asked Dwyer.

"Well, I suppose so," Lobe answered.

Dwyer remarked that turning over pay cheques to your wife is a common American domestic practice, but didn't explain how the matter fits into the trial evidence.

Beck now is retired but gets the same pay as when he was union president.

INCO METALS AT WORK IN CANADA

For bright lasting beauty choose appliances plated with Inco Nickel

Electrical appliances with a gleaming plated finish add bright beauty to your kitchen. And how much easier and more efficient they make your household tasks. Food stains, grease, dirt and grime wipe off so easily. Properly plated appliances won't chip, crack or deteriorate in appearance. How nice to know that the appliances you buy today will stay bright and new looking for years to come.

We ordinarily speak of these appliances as being "chrome-plated". Actually, they're plated with both nickel and chromium. On the surface, a thin film of chromium helps give appliances their bright, shiny appearance . . . but underneath, a heavy coating of nickel provides the real protection against rust, corrosion and wear.

Nickel plating has become a major industry in Canada. Electrical appliances, hardware, automobile parts and many other articles used in industry and the home are plated with Inco Nickel. Another way that Inco Nickel serves the Canadian industries that serve you.

Inco has recently published a colourfully illustrated 32-page booklet about Canada's nickel industry, entitled "The Exciting Story of Nickel". It is written primarily for Canadian youth by Alan King, but adults will also find it full of interesting information. Just write to Inco for a free copy of this booklet.

Enlarged cross section shows nickel plating . . . under chromium . . . over base metal; that's how a quality finish is built on appliances. Chromium adds gleaming beauty. Nickel makes that beauty last.
